Third race—selling; all ages; six furlongs—George S. Davis, 106 (Ferguson), 4 to 1, won; Hallack, 106 (Hoffman), 3 to 2 for place, second; Chilton Chief, 100 (Snider), 3 to 2 to show, third. Time, 1:17. Howlet, Cat, Harrington, but the Californian apparently lacked the power to land a finishing punch. Both men were strong at the end of the sixteenth round, and each had suffered considerable punishment. Ritchie presenting a battered appearance. One of his eyes was entirely closed and the other partly so. The fight was in Wolgast's favor up to the turning point in the sixth round.

When time was called to-day for the first preliminary to the Wolgast-Ritchie fight a heavy pall of chilling fog hung over the arena, but the amphitheatre was jammed to capacity. There were several women present. Ringside betting was brisk, with odds fluctuating between 10 to 6 and 5 to 1. Wolgast on the long end.

A half-hour before the principals were scheduled to enter the ring Ritchie's money was much in evidence, the short-ends demanding 10 to 6. Manager Nolan, Ritchie's manager, offered Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, $5,000 against $10,000, but the latter declined.

Ritchie was the first to enter the ring. Wolgast followed a half-minute later.

Ritchie was the only one of the two principals that was given a semblance of a reception. No time was lost in introducing the fighters.

Referee Jim Griffin called the men to their corners and the ring was ordered cleared and time called at 2:47 o'clock.

Fight by Rounds.

Round 1—Ritchie, with the men fighting close, scored several times to the head and face before the champion essayed the offensive. They mixed fiercely in a neutral corner, and the Californian scored the first blood as a result of a succession of short-arm blows to the mouth. Wolgast spat blood as he took his seat. It was Ritchie's round.

Round 2—Wolgast opened the round with a rush. The champion kept well under cover, and after deluging Ritchie with several lefts and rights to the jaw, drove two wicked rights to the jaw and left upper-cut over the heart. Ritchie broke ground, and Wolgast drove two telling lefts to the stomach. The round ended with desperate fighting. Ritchie exclaiming. Wolgast's round by a shade.

Round 3—Wolgast drove a powerful left to the stomach. His blows lacked direction, which provoked comment. Wolgast drove two wicked rights to the stomach and a right to the mouth. Ritchie started the blood. Wolgast almost sent him through the ropes with a right to the jaw. Ritchie fought back fiercely. The bell ended the round with both bleeding from the mouth. The round was even.

Round 4—They came up eagerly and exchanged right upper-cuts to the jaw. Ritchie drove the champion against the ropes with snappy blows to the face. The "wild cat" retreated to his own corner and covered up. Ritchie's round.

Round 5—A rally to the ropes and closer blocking by both men brought cheers. Wolgast sent right and left to the jaw. A right cross almost sent Ritchie to his haunches. The champion followed this with a right that all but closed the Californian's right eye. Decidedly Wolgast's round.

Round 6—Wolgast took no chances with the shifty Californian. He kept at a safe distance. Two lefts reached Ritchie's damaged right eye. At close range the champion hammered away at the body, landing once in the pit of the stomach with great force. Ritchie's hitting power was deficient. The champion took his corner grinning. Wolgast's round.

Round 7—Wolgast rushed in and planted right to the jaw. Ritchie winced. Wolgast began to talk to Ritchie. The champion whipped several punches to the jaw and body that all but felled the Californian. Ritchie appeared groggy. Wolgast's round.

Round 8—Ritchie came up with a sick smile, and the champion sent in short range blows to the face. Wolgast's defense was perfect. Ritchie's blows failed to reach him. Wolgast landed on body and jaw and scampers to his corner. Wolgast's round.

Round 9—Ritchie's right eye was closed completely. The champion rushed and chased his man about the ring. He showered rights and lefts to the stomach. Ritchie's winding under the blows. The wonder was that Ritchie weathered the storm. Ritchie landed a hard right swing to the face at the bell. Wolgast's round.

Ritchie Comes Back.

Round 10—They fought close together, with Wolgast doing better execution. He used short armed blows to the body. Ritchie showed surprising vitality. The wonder was that Ritchie with straight left and right hooks. Wolgast here lost his poise, and Ritchie hammered unceasingly with right and left swings to the jaw. The crowd was on its feet. Wolgast went to his corner looking worried. Ritchie's round. His best showing of the fight so far.

Round 11—Ritchie carried the battle to the champion's corner. A vicious rally followed in midring. Wolgast swung wildly. Ritchie landed straight right to the jaw. Ritchie was growing stronger, planting solid rights and lefts to the face. Wolgast swung wildly again. Ritchie's round. The champion was showing up.

Round 13—Fighting head to head, they exchanged face blows. They did little damage. Wolgast appeared wild, and seemed strong. Each seemed willing to force the pace. Wolgast rushed Ritchie to the ropes just as the bell ended the round. Round even.

Round 15—Ritchie was able to see from one eye only as he came up. He sent a left to Wolgast's stomach, and they fought at close range. The referee prized them apart several times in this round. Ritchie landed a volley of lefts to the stomach and outboxed the champion. Wolgast closed the round with a hard drive to the stomach. Wolgast had been given a taste of whiskey during each round intermission.

Round 16—Ritchie swung right to jaw as they met, and Wolgast tottered to the ropes. Ritchie sent the champion to the floor with a right swing. Wolgast came up reeling. Again Ritchie shot out and Wolgast was sent against the ropes. Ritchie, however, lacked the power to put in a finishing blow. The best Wolgast could do was to close in, striking all the while, his eyes glazed. With the men locked Wolgast brought his left up from his side and struck Ritchie low. The blow was clearly effective, and the crowd yelled its protest. Referee Griffin grasped Wolgast, saying: "Do that again and I'll disqualify you." He had scarcely released when Wolgast supplanted the referee again, striking Ritchie below the belt. Griffin stopped the fight and promptly awarded the fight to Ritchie.
